My experience

- Easier to write Rails application in app/

- and write React application in client/

- IOW: as two separate apps.

Caveats

- Have not had much time with it

- There's probably a better way to use it than I am

- Does not fit the way I've been thinking of Rails + React for the past year or so